To select a size to suit a paperback book, measure the height of the book. Choose a matching size, or if no exact match is available, the next size up, as a smaller size will not fit.

For hardbacks or books with thick covers, add 2-4mm to allow for the thickness.

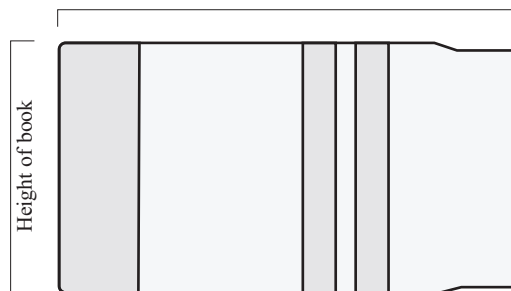

Using the covers is simple - first slip the back cover through the two strips, then slide the front cover into the pocket. Slide the book back through the strips until taught, then fold the overhand under the strips.

Durable welded seams protect the edge of the book.
